

About Read To Feed

Heifer Hong Kong's Read to Feed is a unique reading incentive program that encourages children to read while raising funds from family and friends to help struggling families in rural China. Funds raised will be used to provide livestock and training to lift families in need out of poverty. It also helps children develop empathy and learn about poverty issues starting from a young age. Since 2002, over 430,000 students from 241 schools have participated in the program.
