1. Select a book.

2. Choose a topic from the Table of Contents.

The screenshot displays the GVRL website interface. At the top, there is a search bar with the placeholder text "Search your library's GVRL holdings" and a magnifying glass icon. To the right of the search bar are links for "Logout" and "More Resources". Below the search bar, the GVRL logo and "Gale Virtual Reference Library" text are visible. A navigation menu includes "Bookmark", "Saved Articles (0)", "Previous Searches", "Title List", "Dictionary", "Help", and "English". A user profile dropdown shows "Chan Sui Ki (La Salle) College".

On the left side, there is a book cover for "The Children's Book of Art" with the subtitle "An introduction to the world's most exciting paintings and sculptures". Below the cover, the title "Children's Book of Art, 2009" is displayed, followed by a search box containing the text "within publication".

The main content area shows a "Table of Contents" section with the following items:

A dropdown menu for "Chan Sui Ki (The College) College" is open. Below the navigation menu, there are buttons for "Table of Contents", "VIEW AS", "TEXT", and "PDF". A secondary menu includes "Print", "E-mail", "Download", "Citation Tools", "Translate Article", "Listen" (circled in red), "Download MP3", and "Download PDF to eReader". The main content area shows an article titled "What is Art?" from "Children's Book of Art", published by Dorling Kindersley in 2009. A "Save Article" button is located below the article information. The article text begins with "What is Art?" and "This is a tricky question to answer, because art can be so many things:". Below the text is an image of a framed sign that reads "It's not just drawing" and lists various art forms: "... but can also be collage, mosaics, prints, PHOTOGRAPHY, sculpture, video, painting, and".
